A PROTIVITI ENTERPRISE

Increase the Competitiveness of your Company

Information Services for Business Intelligence

Get an Accurate View into Your BI Capabilities

The evidence is in. Forrester found a strong correlation between overall company success and adoption of innovative business intelligence, analytics and big data tools. And it's not surprising since 75% of enterprise BI decision makers use information to increase competitiveness.

Yet most companies struggle with the enormity of their data challenges. Whether it's building intelligence infrastructures, cleansing data from disparate sources or producing data results that the business can take action on, the burden is on IT to deliver fast, highly accurate data to everyone who needs it.

Decision First Technologies specializes in complete business intelligence strategies that work with your company's needs. We help you produce what your business users want. And we make taking the first step easy with our BI Assessment offering.

A Proven Process

Starting at the foundational level, DFT experts review architecture, evaluate platforms and their support tools, review data management practices and create collaborative relationships between the business and IT. Not only do we identify strengths, risks and gaps that exist between software, but we also highlight the gaps between the business needs and your existing IT systems. From there we provide the optimization and risk mitigation recommendations delivered with a roadmap outlining how we'll get you there. We help you ensure the delivery of a successful business intelligence plan where business and IT work together with the right methodology, software and know-how. It's a win-win for everyone.

BI's Far Reaching Impact

Because business intelligence touches every area of the company, DFT begins every BI Assessment examining the functional, procedural and technical aspects of your business. Our goal is to identify strengths, risks, gaps and provide a roadmap for your short, medium and long-term goals.

Our team of experts thoroughly address all of the critical areas of BI including governance, change management, staffing, training and communications to help your company operate from the best possible position - accurate information.

So whether you've been trying to attack BI on your own or have been ignoring it all together, let DFT help you do it once, do it right and deliver results fast.

Decision First is the Right Choice for BI Assessment Services

DFT is a Business Intelligence authority because BI is not something we do, it's all we do. For almost two decades we've centered our entire business philosophy on improving business performance. We've helped companies of all sizes across varied industries tackle some of the most difficult BI issues with tremendous success.

Whether your IT department is robust or consists of just a few employees, DFT can help establish a customized BI plan that not only works for you today, but leaves you prepared for tomorrow.

Driving Sustainable Results

DFT makes BI planning simple and easy thanks to our proven BI Assessment program. We've perfected the methodology and created a system that drives real, sustainable results. Not only does it produce immediate information highlighting gaps, but it lays the ground work for future BI initiatives.

Starting at the ground level, DFT takes into consideration the business impact of strategies, goals and prioritizations in order to build a solid BI foundation. But we don't stop there. We look at data stores, data movement, hardware, network and security needs, as well as data governance practices in place.

But we don't leave you with a laundry list of problems. We document our findings and provide specific recommendations to mitigate risk factors. We provide a roadmap that addresses both business and technical issues.

We prioritize action items and provide a project plan and estimated pricing for those proposals!

That kind of knowledge and know-how can only come from first-hand experience.
